All of my dreams that fell through and had tasted so sour
Take second place in my mind for this one sacred hour Still I've been moved for so long by this strange fascination
Here as I stand all alone in complete concentration Face through the clouds in the Gods shine with awe and splendour Rise up and roar they approve will they always remember
I hear the voice of the crowd, it will last forever Locked in my heart kept away like a stolen treasure
I can hear them calling Hear the crowd applauding
If it's real I like the feeling If I'm wrong who am I deceiving?
Night after night it repeats an exciting romance Shared by us all though we met by a fleeting half-chance Caught, trapped in time no escape from this powerful dreamworld
Pleased though I am to be here I am lost in the real world
