I woke up early this morning
And I'm already running late
There's a list of things long as my arm
I won't get done today
Is it Tuesday, is it Wednesday
They're running into each other
Somebody tell me when it's my day
Man this life can sure be a mother

Chorus:

So tomorrow I'm taking me fishing
Hang a sign on the door of my life
Tell the world that I've gone missing
And I won't be back for a while
I'm so tired of only wishing
I could leave my trouble behind
I wanna be front porch rocking
With the big sun dropping in a blue sky
Kick back and get high
On the livin' part of life

They say to keep your spot on the ladder
And keep that money rolling in
They say keeping up the Thiles
Boy you can't back off one inch
Well I've been putting in my time
And I've built up a pretty good debt
I'm gonna spend some
Maybe waste some
Before my time comes and I wind up dead

Chorus:

So tomorrow I'm taking me fishing
Hang a sign on the door of my life
Tell the world that I've gone missing
And I won't be back for a while
I'm so tired of only wishing
I could leave my trouble behind
I wanna be front porch rocking
With the big sun dropping in a blue sky
Kick back and get high
On the livin' part of life

When I get home tonight
I'll open the window
And let whatever roll in
And if there's no breeze
That's cool with me
I'll just raise my sail
And wait on the wind

Yeah tomorrow I'm taking me fishing
Hang a sign on the door of my life
Tell the world that I've gone missing
And I won't be back for a while
I'm so tired of only wishing
I could leave my trouble behind
I wanna be front porch rocking
With the big sun dropping in a blue sky
Kick back and get high
Kick back and get high
On the livin', the livin' part of life
