Is anyone awake? Anyone at all?
Siren song is calling me, it's getting louder now
And compromise is here, I know it's all a lie
I need to hear the melody of Your tune, Your tune

So take me home but keep me feeling lonely
When everyone is around You're trying to show me
How to hear Your song, down here by the water
Far away from the lights I see that I can't live two lives

Everywhere I go I carry with me
This ceiling that divides us, it's coming in between
When conversation turns into a monologue
I need to just be silent here and listen for Your tune,
Your tune

So take me home but keep me feeling lonely
When everyone is around You're trying to show me
How to hear Your song, down here by the water
Far away from the lights I see that I can't live two lives

Night time lends its ear
To the sound of my disappointment
When the ideal fades I don't want to complain
I just want to hear You sing

Take me home but keep me feeling lonely
When everyone is around You're trying to show me
How to hear Your song, down here by the water
Far away from the lights I see that I can't live two lives
Can't live two lives
