Must have been that winter cold
That made me set out on my own
I said my goodbyes and I left You behind
Growing up is getting old

Bring back the memories, bring back that smile
'Cause I've outgrown them
Now I remember but everything's changed
Still I'm captivated by that face You wear tonight

Must have been the April thaw
That made me hunger for Your arms
You welcomed me back and You held me close
Overnights don't seem so cold

Bring back the memories, bring back that smile
'Cause I've outgrown them
Now I remember but everything's changed
Still I'm captivated by that face You wear tonight

That You wear, that You wear, that You wear
That You wear, wear tonight
That You wear, that You wear, that You wear
That You wear, wear tonight

Bring back the memories, bring back that smile
'Cause I've outgrown them
Now I remember but everything's changed
Still I'm captivated by that face You wear tonight
Familiar but it looks so new in streetlight, in this light
