Crawling deep into my skin
You try to leave another mark
Cold and I've tried to keep this pace
But I was wrong
I was so wrong

I used to think it was complete
Simply cause I couldn't let it go

You try and fool the rest of them
With words and everything you've learned
Wait up you're moving way too fast
This world can see right through you now

We've lost
We've lost it all
But I've found just what I needed

I've let this all
I've let this all
(Just lay down)
Caught in between the roots of you
