She's got a living stone and rain in her hand She doesn't have an umbrella to cover herself She's got a living stone and pain in her mind All I can do is sing for her and myself

I wish I can take it away to three thousand light years

I wish I can take it away to three thousand light years away

Don't be afraid, I'll be next to you

I wish I can take it away to three thousand light years

I wish I can take it away to three thousand light years

I wish I can take it away to three thousand light years

I wish I can take it away to three thousand light years away

I'll be next to you
