I don't believe in anything worth fighting for, worth dying for.
I don't believe the clouds are hiding much more than a reason to downpour.
So what would you do if you were me?
Give up, forget, and go back to sleep.

And I believe that heaven is like her ocean eyes,
deeper than mountains climb.
And I believe that hell is like watching her smile
knowing she'll never be mine.
So what would you do if you were me?
Just hide your heart and go back to sleep.
So go back to sleep.
