Once there was this dude, he was the coolest of town,
Never without girls, always doing fine.
Pretty face, the best at sports, cool motorbike,
Belonged to the top Gets what he wants and all the boys wanted to be just like him
Cause he was the coolest, he had it made, society's number one

Once there was this girl, she was the coolest of town,
Never without boys, always doing fine
She was miss whatever, had a fan-club, always wore the latest fashion,
Her hair always shines and all the girls wanted to be just like her,
Cause she was the coolest, she had it made, society's number one

They made it big, who can stop them now,
Popular in human eyes is what counts
That's what they thought, hope they are right,
'Cause there won't be much left without that sight

One fine day, dude and girl met each other,
They started with a date, dude drove out to fetch her.
She jumped on, he raced away, trying to make her day, Looked around to see her smile but missed that car on the other side,
Yeah they were the coolest, they had it made, society's number ones

There they were, still together but in hospital,
Lying on intensive care, they were unrecognisable,
Their pretty faces were gone, girlie had gone bold,
No one came to visit, all friends were gone,
They were all alone, yeah no more the coolest,
Reputation gone, society's problem now.

They made it big, that's over now
Popular in human eyes is not what counts,
That's what they thought, they were not right,
What is left now without that sight

Bottomline don't adore or don't demean
We're all the same, regardless of fame
All human creations, created by One Name.
