Take a breath and take a bow,
Have a smoke to calm you down,
Reflect upon the promises I knew you'd never keep.
Now I know you won't be coming home to me.

Take a breath and take a bow,
And burn your ties right down to the ground.
Put on another puppet show,
But this time, don't use me.
I'm sure there's tons of other pawns
That would love your company.

Don't even try.
Your money is no good here.
Your credit is sky high.
Don't even try.
Because I know all the secrets,
And I've heard all the lies.

Take this in, and take it now.
And just know that your words may one day bring you down.
Everything you once thought that you held so close and
dear
Will vanish, soon, into the night.

Don't even try.
Your money is no good here.
Your credit is sky high.
Don't even try.
Because I know all your secrets,
And all your alibis.
