Summers here! moon is rising over the sea, and no surprises
At the end of the day
You left the world of enterprising, narrow streets and those highrising
They just fade into grey

You left your phones and moans behind
And headed off for summer climes
A better day has never called
But now it's here, grab a beer one and all
Surf is up

Come and see the moons reflection
Over the sea with such perfection
You could just flow away
Hear the rhythmic flow that passes
Every single wave that crashes
They just fade into grey

You've made your beds and there you lie
Begging for that summer high
A better day has yet to call
So now it's here, grab a beer one and all
Surf is up
