Seated under a tree, he's awaking slowly

Lost he doesn't remember anything

Who am I?

It seems that the wind's talking to him

And the breath resounds in his head

What is your third wish, master?

But what were my other wishes?

Your second one was to become

Who you were before your first wish

Lost he doesn't remember anything

So, I want to know who I am...

It seems that the wind's talking to him

I thought as much, it was also your first wish!
