Oh yeah

If I could see beyond the step before me, beyond my doubts and fears

If I could just feel your hand in my hand, see with my eyes you're here

Maybe I'd lean on you more than I already do, yeah

Or maybe I'd turn away, pretend that I don't need you

But you know the questions and you have the answers

To the doubts within my heart, hey

And you have the strength and you have the love

Oh to fill every empty part

And I'm glad that you know all you do and I'm glad that I know you

If I could just learn how not to stumble, catch myself when I fall

If I could just learn to keep my mouth shut when silence is best for all

I need you desperately to calm the rage in me

It gets harder for me to conceive, how you could choose to love me?

But you know the questions and you have the answers

To the doubts within my heart, hey

And you have the strength and you have the love to fill, oh

To fill every empty part

And I'm glad that you know all you do and I'm glad that I know you

The more that we learn the less we know

And the weaker we are the more we grow

Yeah, yeah, yeah

But you know the questions and you have the answers

To the doubts within my heart, yeah

And you have the strength and you have the love

Oh to fill every empty part

But you know the questions and you have the answers

To the doubts within my heart
And you have the strength and you have the love
Oh to fill every empty part
And I'm glad that you know all you do and I'm glad that I know you
I'm glad that I know you, you
I'm glad that I know, oh yes, I'm glad that I know you
