How I waited back on the corner
For you to make me see straight again
I could steal your heart and pictures
But I dont think its getting better you swore that it'd be alright but it's not you swore that you'd be alright but you're not and I'm sorry about it I'm just tired of wasting time

I killed another one tonight
I cant stop myself from crying
I killed another girl tonight
I just cant help myself anymore

Your dad swore you would be fine goddamn he lied Your mom said stop calling nights, at least sometimes Your graves never looked as good as it does in the daylight
I'm tired of wasting time
I'm tired of wasting time

It's october 22nd now
It's been three days since I saw it It's october the 22nd now It's been three years since you left me for below

Your dad swore you'd be fine but god he lies Your mom said stop calling nights Andy, at least sometimes
Your graves never looked as good as in morning and May light
And I'm tired of wasting times on a body that has no life, on a rythm that has no rhyme tonight.
