I could of sworn that I saw you knee bent on the bedside

Arms stretching like a kite

That time will eventually grow, I'm so sure of it

I've got a reason to long for songs

That tells why your legs and arms

Are actually able

'Cause I confide in wolves at night

Well, have you seen my baby girl?

She's lonely, yeah, oh, oh, oh

I've got to crucify myself if I am gonna believe you

I've got to promise that I'll finish all the things I said

I'd do to begin with too

I've got to make my bed if I am gonna lay with you

'Cause a disaster's a disaster

No matter what Christian language you drag it through

'Cause I confide in wolves at night

Well, have you seen my baby girl?

She's lonely, so lonely

'Cause I confide in wolves at night

I'm like a virgin losing a child

So lonely, so lonely

Swear I did what I could for your rights

You swear you did what you could for my eyes

And I'll try nothing, try something, try anything

I swear I did what I could for your rights

And you swear you did what you could for my eyes

And I'll try something, for nothing, for something

Something

I swear I did what I could for your rights

You swear you did what you could for my eyes

And I'll try something, try nothing, try anything
