Well at least can't you
Look at me when I'm speaking to you?
Because there are things I've got to say
Well what was he sneaking to you
When you thought I'd looked away?

I get it, I get it
Now I understand just what you're playing
I get it, I get it
I guess there isn't any point delaying

You would rather that I wasn't here
You don't have to say a word, it's crystal clear

You bought him presents with my money
That makes me feel just great, although
I've got to say that it is kind of funny
That you could think I'd never know

I get it, I get it
It was just another way of saying
I get it, I get it
That you really didn't want me staying

Oh I bet you just wish that I'd disappear
You don't have to say a word, it's crystal clear

Lying in my bed
You remember when
It was you who said
That we'd never be apart again
But now the longer that I hang around
The more anxious that you get
Oh it looks like romeo has found
A nervous juliet

Because you would rather that I wasn't here
You don't have to say a word, it's crystal clear
Oh I bet you just wish that I'd disappear
You don't have to say a word, it's crystal clear
