Smile you're on TV again
You must put up a happy face
Your mother told you to on christmas day
Oh you must do what they say
Now you're thinking of happy thoughts
Like no one did you harm and it was all 1234
Life is so brilliant, but why?
I'm not so sure.

You remember the day
You remember the package
Where he used to spend his years
And now you found him
Or was it him that found you?
It feels like you already knew
Life is sweet when he is back
So I just say

Welcome home, Luc Robitaille!
There's so much that you missed
I'm old but I need you as much as yesterday
Oh Mr. Robitaille stay
I threw the others away

This must be the worst thing I've done
I don't know even why I wrote this song
There's so much more to him than that paper card
Look at him crossing the line
Oh it's so hard to define the moves inside my head
It's all just blood blood sweat sweat tears tears behind all fears

Now it seems so clear
Everything falls into place
This mathematic maze and now you found me
Or was it me that found you?
It feels like you already knew
Life is sweet when he is back
So I just say

Welcome home, Luc Robitaille!
There's so much that you missed

I'm old but I need you as much as yesterday
Oh Mr. Robitaille stay
I threw the others away
I threw the others away

Smile you're on TV again
You must put up a happy face
Your mother told you to
And now you see you found him
Or was it me that found you?
Life is sweet when he is back
So I just say

Welcome home, Luc Robitaille!
There's so much that you missed
I'm old but I need you as much as yesterday
Mr. Robitaille stay
I threw the others away
Oh I threw the others away
Oh I threw the others away
Oh I threw the others away
Oh I threw the others away
I threw the others away
I threw the others away
I threw the others away
