I could handle your tortured heart
Even piece it together whenever you ripped it apart
But I can never be that kind of girl who absorbs that kind of suffering
And turns it into some kind of [Incomprehensible]

I want love to love me back
I want two way conversations
I want love to love me back
One that can handle any situation
I want love to love me back

A sky full of winter stars light up the streets of Manhattan
[Incomprehensible] empty curls
Stretching in the summer sun
It's all out in the open California highway, I don't wanna run

I want love to love me back
I want two way conversations
I want love to love me back

One that can handle any situation
I want love to love me back
Back, back

Listening to a distant train I wonder where it's going Maybe where it's coming from, it's all the same Took some time to find my place where the coyotes start crying
I don't want somebody filling up this space

I want love to love me back
I want two way conversations
I want love to love me back
One that can handle any situation

I want love to love me back
I want two way conversations
I want love to love me back
One that can handle any situation

I want love to love me back
