"Run"

Life is a misery everyone always is trying to solve
I give it to recently searching for something I try to resolve
Only when everything matters I'm finding myself so alone
I'm crying for someone to hear me but no one appears to be home

And you can see the world through my eyes
Take my hand and we will be free, cause

All I know is we will find a way
For you, for me, for everything I say
The light of the sun is shining up above
Run, run, run, run towards the one you love
