make your move obvious humor desperate and respiratory plight always on dressed to impress i'll be the last one to find out why time takes its toll on us this changes everything i'd be a liar if I denied you at all oh, now that I know
i've been trading ideas with intriguing men, over and over again i percieve an honest solution to all your problems (all she wants to find out is why)
oh, now that I know
remove from home
I promise to write, I promise
remove from home
there's no gift without a price
remove from home
I promise to write, I promise as the amplifier screams out loud for the last time wave your hands at the audience as you sink in this last chance to hide you need desperately so Motion gives up on you in the end I'll try my best to be home by then You'll see the grace we've had You'll never have You never had i'm going home but my own way i'm going home by my own
i'm going home but my own way
i'm going home by my own
I would really love if you'd sit him down
I would really love if you'd pull this thread

I would really love if you'd sit him down
