

Circa Survive "Travel Hymn"

Visit "Travel Hymn" on MotoLyrics.com

It came across like you were mad
Holding in your breath with everything you had
Until your face began to turn red
"This is why I turn and walk away from everything"
I need to feel it closer now.
"This is why I turn and walk away from everything"
I never thought it'd be like this

Between the seal a church is revealed.
And I would rather be...

Lonely along the way
Something set us off into the wrong direction
but within this particular space, time goes to waste.
Time goes to waste...
Time goes to waste...
Time goes...

It came across like you were mad,
Holding in your breath with everything you had...
Until your face began to turn red.
Between the seal a church is revealed
And I would rather be...

Lonely along the way
Something set us off into the wrong direction
but within this particular space...

Time starts to slow down and all of these patterns
never change.
So slow down, because nobody looks at life the same.
And no one was like this 'til you came along and reset our dials all wrong.

Lonely along the way
Something set us off into the wrong direction
but within this particular space, time goes to waste.
Lonely along the way
Something set us off into the wrong direction
but within this particular space, time goes to waste.

