I haven't seen your face around since i was a kid you're bringing back those memories of the things that we did you're hanging round and climbing trees pretending to fly d'yer wanna be a spaceman and live in the sky

you got how many bills to pay and how many kids?
and you've forget about the things that we did the town where we're living has made you a man and all of your dreams are washed away in the sand well it's alright
it's alright
who are you and me to say whats wrong and whats right?
do you still feel like me?
sit down here and we shall see we can talk to find common ground we can just forget about feeling down we can just forget about life in this town its funny how your dreams change as you're growing old you don't wanna be no spaceman you just wanted gold all the dreamstealers are lying in wait but if you wanna be a spaceman it's still not too late
well it's alright
an it's alright
right?
we can talk to find commmon ground
we can just forget about feeling down
we can just forget about life in this town
