A red rose on the water
A star falls into the sea
And blue skies look down forever
High above the white hotel
High above the white hotel

A young girl and her lover
A fire burns down the night
And all of the lonely people
Caught inside the white hotel
Caught inside the white hotel

Solo

She wakes up, this must be heaven
And she needs her promised land
Around her angels are singing
Welcome to the white hotel
Welcome to the white hotel
