"I Told A Lie"

I told a lie, I told a great big fucking lie made you come over to drive him home that night while we were getting drunk and he was getting high and I lied and said I loved you while I touched her thighs
and it wasn't true, baby, it was far from true when you went out of town, and I said that I missed you I am so ashamed, what an awful thing to do but as soon as you were gone, I made my move and I know someday you'll find out what went down can't keep a secret in this town sooner or later word gets around around around I let you go, yeah I know I let you go and it was because I just couldn't let you know all of those things that my bedroom mirror showed so I told you it was nothing personal
