when i sleep
i dream of leaving you i can't find a switch in the dark passed out cold thought my way through empty rooms fever dreams, my racing heart you said you didn't wanna push me, but my back's against the wall

you made me feel like a control freak, made me make you feel so small and I'm tired of the back and forth, that aged old tug of war
but i won't think twice 'bout walking through that door separate paths, i breath so easily you came back, i held my tongue my way or salice (???) creek parkway drop you like the setting sun

against the wall
you feel so small

is it so wrong to want to keep this to myself? is it so wrong to share it with nobody else?
is it so wrong to leave you sleeping in the dark? i tried this once before and all it did was break my heart

against the wall.
no i won't think twice no i won't think twice 'bout walking through that door
