

Mansions

"You Got Cool"

Visit "You Got Cool" on MotoLyrics.com

You got cool and you might never start to thaw.
I'm in luck, 'cause you won't talk to me at all.
I admit I had a phase full of black leather jackets,
And dark, dark shades.

But I can't stand it, caught red-handed
And you still deny that you were once so young and dumb.
Now I wish you were like that person I knew before.

You found God hiding underneath the stairs.
Popping pills, you're making sure you say your prayers.
Convinced that you've been cured,
But you're alone just like the earth.

Well I can't stand it, caught red-handed
And you still deny that you were once so young and dumb.
Now I wish you were like that person I knew before.

Can you admit you used to love that stupid band?
Freaking out in your bedroom with your best friend?
What happened?
Yeah what happened?

Well I can't stand it, caught red-handed
And you still deny that you were once so young and dumb.
Now I wish you were like...
Yeah I wish you were like...

Visit Mansions page on MotoLyrics.com, to get more lyrics and videos.