I stare at the sky and see What i've tried to see so many years the purity of space and time
To see it all through intoxicated tears

Cratinf a trip through hexagonal space
Im fighting the laws of gravity Burning my eyes to understand blind agitation 'gainst my own sanity

you can fool a man forever
Fill him with you lies
You can fool mankind once
Drawing a web of lies Burning their eyes to understand
you can't fool mankind forever

I've never tried to embrace myself tight It's not how i want it to be
And i found in my head that i always did right

Even thoguh you speak angry with me

Spiraling confusing appears
As the world keeps coming back
What i felt is description of ALL And madness is my only friend

you can fool a man forever
Fill him with you lies
You can fool mankind once
Drawing a web of lies
you can't fool mankind forever
