What are you thinking about in long term conditions why dont you shout it out and admit your adiction
For all of the time that you cover in veil You're hiding the shaft of the second best sale
And all of the time that you're bending the spoon You're staring again to the plain side of the moon

It is another way of knowing you
It is another way of knowing you
This is the present
this is the past this is the future that won't last

And what are you thinking now could you have any ambition maybe i can show you how To admit your adiction
And every second that you despise best friend
The time is ticking and it'll come to an end
And all of the time that you're hiding your thoughts
Then something appears that'll get over your guts

It is another way of knowing you
it is another way of knowing you
This is the present
this is the past
this is the future thant won't last
