Shojo

They are not allies

They are memories

there where your sisters

laid in miracle lines

she screamed

beyond the sun

beyond the eyelids of sickness

Burn me in your shadows burn me in the past

I know

you want to destroy me

but you already have

You already had me

Take it back

mesmerize

In wounds of silicon

In wounds of impotence

Shojo

They are not allies

They are memories

There was your brother

climbed in your thoughts

he screamed

sorrowed

but nothing could save him not even loneliness

He was ought to the virulence

Ought to the lord

I know

You want to destroy it

But you cannot hide

That you already know it

Take it back

mesmerize

In wounds of silicon

In wounds of impotence

Shojo

They are not allies

They are memories

Take it back

mesmrerize

In wounds of silicon

In wounds of impotence

Scars of the past

Things you can recall

But not want to remember

Shojo

There are many

They are not allies

They are memories

Taken from the beauty of crime

Taken from the sins of mine

Tell me

Are these thoughts worth it?

Is this world worth it?

Are they going to be punished?

No one can tell

A ghost is the prize

Shojo

They are not allies

They are memories
