Open up your eyes
my friend
today you'll see the end of me and beat your way through life

my friend
unwrapp blindfold and start to see the fate of space and time

While you stay on the ground think of things that you're missing Just start to notice all around and clean your ears and listen cause today
you may stay
you'll have a ray
and you'll say

I can live without your care
i can live without your stare

Open up your mind
my friend
tomorrow you will pay a fee and grow your pride with lies

Race into your mind
my friend
there you'll see what falls apart and clear your head of cries

think of things you're missing just start to notice all around
cause today
