There's no escaping all we've done.
There's no hiding what we've become.
(Ä—2)

Awoke to the silence...
Thoughts condensed into a single point,
driving through my skin:
Unwilling accomplice, we've killed again.

We've made wounds too deep for the whole world to ignore.
Some things can't be undone.
This can't be forgiven.

Where have we been?
Bodies keep piling outside again.
Pay no attention... it hurts too much.
Let's go to sleep again.

We've made wounds too deep for the whole world to ignore.
Some things can't be undone.
This can't be forgiven.

There's no escaping all we've done.
There's no hiding what we've become.
(Ä—2)

None can have their head up high, with bloodied hands and covered eyes.
Guilty. All guilty.
Justify this all you want. Regurgitate the lies you've bought.
Guilty. All guilty.
There's no escape. There's no hiding what we've done.
