I heard that now you're callin' Left it all behind this mornin' With those blocks, the ones that see you through

Like all the times before You made sure that they saw you But now you're gonna see this through

When you look down You know you'll see this glory verse What you found You'll tend to me as glory verse

This world could get you closer
To what you need the most
You'll find this chemistry could move

These sounds will never leave you Will be there to receive you These sounds, they seem to write themselves

When you look down You know you'll see this glory verse What you found You'll tell to me is glory verse

Before you leave from here Before you leave from here Here is really just a matter of time Before it happens, yeah
