Im a labyrinth of hopes and fears
Of tears of frustration and of anger
But if you can break through this wall
And search amongst it all
Youll find a man there
Who has a heart of love
Who is afraid of getting jaded
Growing older
Who needs someone to love him
Through lifes winter
When the weather grows a little colder

I know I have a darker side
A cruel streak
Im selfish and demanding
But Im a man with a vision
It just takes a little understanding

And in my hand
The grains of sand
A thousand million moments of emotion
Oh... these
Oh... these my dreams are yours

Im a boat well rocked by wave and wind
Ive sinned, Id win
No prizes for perfection
But at best Ive given all my all
My shoulder for your tears
And your protection
And if one day I dont wake up
Remember I was good upon reflection
And if they say I was a fool
Be cool, but demand correction

And in my hand
The grains of sand
A thousand million moments of emotion
Oh... these
Oh... these my dreams are yours

You can have my smile my tears
My wishes heres a fortune
To adorn you
Ill whisper in the night to you
Promise to adore and never scorn you
And as we grow a little older
Try to understand more of each other
I will be your golden eye
Your master of illusion
Or just your lover

Ill be a dragonfly, a butterfly
A secret or a little lie to test you
A song a verse a lullaby
A symphony once in a while
To try and impress you
Ill take your heart to the limit
The colours of my joy
My tears to dress you
But sometimes dear
My hearts my own
I dont wish to exclude you or Distress you

But darling...
And in my hand
Oh... these
