I've destroyed another love
Have to stamp out every good that touches me
In and out of my heart
Crawls the ugly worm of jealousy
Born from insecurity
Never meant to drive you away
I, guilty of all crimes
Saw myself in another light today

I who never
I who never

Outside in the sun hazed street
Is an empty parade of sinking hearts
Will I see your ragged head
Among those in search of one fast kiss
My searching heart joins those
Goes out to take your hand
You were once a part of this
My searching heart joins those
Goes out to take your hand
You were once a part of this

I who never
I who never

Sat sad by silent phone

Changed my number forgot to tell the world
Get drunk get dead and gone
You were such a special one to me
How can I with so much
Really have nothing at all
How can I with so much
Really have nothing at all

I who never
I who never

Desperate, irrational
Just another face another window
I would prowl the city streets

Searching for your signs
Fuelled by sweeter times
This could even make me pray
I who never ever ever prays
This could even make me pray
I who never ever ever prays

I who never
I who never
