There are times
You can't help but to cry
And time won't heal
By and by

There are times
You can't hold back the tears
And hurt won't heal
With the years

But, I will always love you
Always love you
Always you and no-one else but you

There are times
When the world is cruel
And I won't be there for you

There are times
You can't hold back the tears

And hurt will heal
With the years

I will always love you
Always love you
Always you and no-one else but you

When storms come our way
When tides wash away
When storms come our way
When tides wash away

I will always love you
Always love you
Love you love you love you love you
Always love you
