

Marc Almond "Soul Inside"

Visit "Soul Inside" on MotoLyrics.com

The wind in my hair and the black in my eyes
I was holding back tears I was reeling with surprise
With noone to phone I just chewed at the time
I was waving goodbye to take control of my mind

And the beat of my heart marks the passing of time
And I just want to scream at the sky
There's times when my mind was an explosion of feeling
I'm trying to hold on to the soul inside

I looked for your lies I play the game eyes
I couldn't find the way out, the wheres or the whys
Should I laught, should I cry,
Should I live, should I die?
This wild celebration caused feelings inside
And the beat of my heart marks the passing of time
And I just want to scream at the sky
There's times when my mind was an explosion of
feeling
I'm trying to hold on to the soul inside

(repeat several times)

It's a wild celebration of the feelings inside
And it's tearing me up...
It's a wild celebration of feelings inside...

Visit Marc Almond page on MotoLyrics.com, to get more lyrics and videos.