Did he know what he was doing
Putting eyes into my head
If he didn't want me watching women
He should've left my eyeballs dead

Isn't that so
Isn't that so
You've got to go where your heart says go
Isn't that so

Did he know what he was doing
When he divided high and low
You've got to bury the seeds in the dirt my friend
If you want the thing to grow

Well it's the line of the least resistance
That leads me on....

Did he know what he was doing
When he made that perfect vine
His own son got the reputation
Of turning water into wine

[chorus]

You've got to go where your heart says go
Isn't that so
