Lovers in the morning, fighters late at night
Narrow-minded dreamers let's make it right
We can make it better instead of getting worse
Is there no solution loves pain we must disperse

Our bodies are inviting when love is at its height
But in the mind we're as different as black and white

I love you madly

Lonely is a liar who speaks against his heart
So though we both are lonely we have to make a start
It really doesn't matter who is right or wrong
We can make it better we can have our song

Our bodies are inviting they're one of a kind
Let us become adults and stop being blind

I love you madly
