"Simple Man"

I can feel the west wind blow I can see the raindrops falling count the clouds up in the sky or sitting down to watch the fire die

I can hear the railroad call once each hour all night long I can feel the lonely nights multiply when you're not in sight don't want these circles anymore I know it's you that I adore there's nothing that I can find and I say just one more time

I'm just a man a simple man who doesn't want to say goodbye I'll hold on tight cause this feels right
I can feel your love tonight

I can put on fancy clothes grab my wine and drink it slow or I could take you for a ride on the ferris wheel if you'd like can't run these circles anymore

I know it's you that I adore there's nowhere else I'd spend my time and I say just one more time
I'm just a man a simple man
who doesn't want to say goodbye
I'll hold on tight cause this feels right
I can feel your love tonight

And I can't believe there is another way for this to end for us listen close to the words I have to say and come with me tonight if all you need is the moonlight steal it will I from the night if other lovers took the stars

I'll win your love with my guitar and I

I'm just a man a simple man
who doesn't want to say goodbye
I'll hold on tight cause this feels right
I can feel your love tonight

I can be the man who finds all the things that make you smile I can be the one to tries to use this song to make you cry
