Perhaps I'll be a flyer
Supersonic seals and speed
Drive faster, further, higher
The folks at home will never believe
The one thing that could stop me
From a chance with some renown
Is learning so I've got to start
Or these blocks will keep me grounded

Perhaps I'll be a fighter
My upper cuts the best they say
Boxing's biggest fighter
Better than Muhammed Ali
But when I start and dream about
Stepping in that ring
My heart pounds fast, I double sweat
And then I start this thinking,

Man, man , man, perhaps I'd better think again
My dreams are big but perhaps I'd better slow down

Perhaps I'll be a rock star
A spotlight suits me fine
The biggest, baddest rock star
The floors will all be mine
But now it seems to slip away
Although I really dig the scene
I tried so hard, I threw in words
I guess I'll be a singer

Man, man, man, perhaps I'd better think again
Damn, damn, damn, perhaps I'd better think again
My dreams are big but perhaps I'd better slow down
