[Originally by Ron Sexsmith]

The day is long
Too many hours to fill
It's alright to let a few minutes spill
Where's the crime in wasting time with you

No need to run when the pistols fire
It's alright just let the meter expire
Where's the crime in waisting time with you

People love to talk about the big things they're gonna do
But we've been through it all
We can just remove ourselves
We don't have to prove ourselves
Worthy of their approval

You're only young once
That's one point of view
It's alright with nothing better to do

Where's the crime in waisting time
Where's the crime in waisting time
Where's the crime in waisting time with you
