A cloaking robe of elvenkind
hangs in my wardrobe behind All those things that mother said were proper for a boy
And I know I could not say why
On this summer evening Sixteen books on magic spells stacked below the cloak of elves And sixteen books on magic spells so elegantly bound
And I know I could not say why
On this summer evening
And I know something...something about you
And I know something...something about you
A cloaking robe of elvenkind
All those things that mother said were proper for a boy
