Wolves

Many miles they went

To reach this point

They went here to seek what they lost

What they lost before time

Before the first rays of light

In the worst torment of all

Despair

They dedicated their existence to follow

To explore

And how they searched

Eternity, darkness, the black

They were only a piece

Of the complete puzzle

They the warriors they were

In a never ending maze of

Confusion

The life they so intensively hated

Wolves so many lifetimes they

Went to reach this point

And yet so many lifetimes to go

Eternity, darkness, the black

They were only a piece of the

Complete puzzle

They - the warriors they were

In a never ending maze of confusion
