Every night I go down to this same little joint Fill up my glass till I've reached the point past remembering
Where the music is loud the conversation is free A dance or two with someone to keep me from remembering
The fool I've been the hurt I've caused the good man that I loved and lost For he's constantly with me in memory I go home but I couldn't sleep and after hours I'd be walking the streets remembering

A good man's love is hard to find my man's love was just that kind I'm the reason that he's gone today
I miss him so and the price I pay is remembering I take him to sleep in my dreams every night
And start all over in the morning light remembering
The way it was when he loved me And like a fool how I carelessly broke his heart watched my world fall apart I'd give the world for yesterday just to have him love me the way I remember Just to have him love me the way I remember
