Well I saw you with your hands above your head, spinnin' around, trying not to look down but you did and you fell, hard on the ground you stumbled around for a good ten minutes and I said that I've never seen anyone look so dumb before but you laughed and said "I still know how to turn you around tough?"

you are the only one who drags me kicking and screaming through fast dreams and you are the only one who knows exactly what I need

And I probably forgot to tell you this, like that time I forgot to tell you about that scar, remember how uncomfortable that made you feel?

See you're not what I expected but you're the only one who knows how to handle me you're such a great kisser, and I know that you agree

who drags me kicking and screaming through fast dreams
and you are the only one who knows exactly what I mean

I hope you can forgive me for that time when I put my hand between your legs and said it was small, 'cause it's really not at all I guess there's just a part of me that likes to bring you down just to keep you around, 'cause the day you that you realize how amazing you are you're gonna leave me

holds my hair back when I'm drunk and get sick you are the only one who

drives me kicking and screaming through fast dreams you are the only one who

exactly what I need

I saw you with your hands above your head spinning around, trying not to look down but you did and you fell, hard on the ground
