There's some things she needs to verify.
Could you bring forth an alibi?
Cause she was always inbetween the jury and the Attorney.

You give an ultimatem, and he will decline.
And he was undecided most of the time.
And he was always inbetween his life and a movie
Scene.

And the weight of our words is what we don't Understand.
All the tests and the parts of every woman and Every man.

So with dignity and grace,
All you have to raise
All the things in your mind that we
Play, and we play, and we play.
The things that made you cry
That you forgave, let go by,
Or you will push the one you love out of your Life.

And there was always something she had to plan
She's always looking down in her left hand
She was always inbetween her life and her Childhood dream.

And there was always something he had to mend.

You give a rule, you give him something to bend.
And he was always inbetween his word and what His word means.

And the weight of our words is what we don't Understand.
All the tests and the parts of every woman and every man.

So with loyalty embraced,
All you have to sustain
All the things in your mind,

That will change they will change.
The things that made you lie,
You want to forget and let go by.
You will push the one you love out of your life.

So with dignity and grace,
All you have to raise
All the things in your mind that we
Play, they replay, they replay.
The things that made you cry
That you forgave, let go by,
Or you will push the one you love out of your Life.
