your fear becomes a prodigy for a makeshift operation devouring until the system's slain the rage imposed it overflows, pensive reason slows and at dawn it's on to kill the light of day you taunt the fraying fabric of a brain that if twists a little more you'll find demise as hatred has its way panic thrives, our numbers rise, don't open you eyes the rally's closing forcing you at bay you don't want to see this, if you did you'd surely disbelieve it

establishing your plan again, you think to seal our doom but there's no room in our agenda for defeat defense defies you, lame tame and humane and ninety-six will stop you easily

disbelieve it

locked in and surrounded, every heart is pounding hellions on parade, bodies fall by hand and blade we relish your foundations burning... destruction on display

hellions on parade, swiftness preys on all delay join in this brigade, be afraid.. the hellions on parade

disbelieve it

a city placed on red alert collapses to the dirt along with faith and pompous dignity conformists crumble to their knees, stripped of their abilities abundant screams, the begging feeble pleas

you don't want to see this, if you did you'd surely
disbelieve it

hellions on parade, bodies fall by hand and blade
join in this brigade, be afraid.. the hellions on parade
