A WOMAN'S LOVE (Marie Claire D'Ubaldo)
No matter what you say or do
A woman's gonna have a hold on you
It could be your sister or your lover
But in her arms she'll hold you like a mother
But don't try to pull her under
Cause you will know the rage and thunder of...
A woman's love is the sun in the sky
A woman's love is the night
She will change in the bat of an eye
A woman's love could make a grown man cry
No matter what you think is true
You're to blame baby, shame on you
Don't matter if you're right or wrong
A woman's love's gonna make you strong
And when you think that you've really had enough
You're gonna beg for the healing touch of...
A woman's love is the sun in the sky
A woman's love is the night
She will change in the bat of an eye
A woman's love could make a grown man cry
She listens when your soul needs to bleed
And every word she says is what you need
A woman giveth, then she taketh away
That's how a woman's gonna make you stay
I guess it's hard to see the line between
A woman's hate and a woman's love
