Thinking of the mess we made
You became a part of me
Thinking of the wish you made
To break free

Playing you like I can
Shoving it in your face
This doesn't break your heart
I'm the one to blame

I never wanted to change your world
I always wanted the simple things
And whatever happens now
It can't be real

Thinking that you might betray
My own private fantasy
I'm only the one that gives
What you need

Playing you like I can
Shoving it in your face
If this doesn't tear you apart
I'm the one to blame

I never wanted to change your world
I always wanted the simple things
And whatever happens now
It can't be real

I never wanted to change your world
I always wanted the simple things
And whatever happens now
It can't be real

And now you're gone I feel betrayed
You can't blame me, you walked away
And now you're gone I feel betrayed
You can't blame me, you walked away

I never wanted to change your world
I always wanted the simple things

And whatever happens now
It can't be real

I never wanted to change your world
I always wanted the simple things
And whatever happens now
It can't be real

I never wanted to change your world
I always wanted the simple things
And whatever happens now
It can't be real

I never wanted to change your world
I always wanted the simple things
