Take another motherfucking hit of LSD
Let all the love inside the world belong to you
Well I can't understand just why you went away
Too young to feel the pain and bitterness of love
Well I can never understand a motherfucking word you'd ever say
And all the people that you hurt came down on you
Well I can't understand just why you went away
I sat and waited for the day you'd come back home

Well it was all good
Well it was all good
Well it was all good
Well it was all

Take a loaded gun and blow my fantasy away
Turn off the lights and shine the spotlight down on you Well I could never understand a motherfucking word
you'd ever say
And all the people that you hurt came down on you
Well I can't understand just why you went away
Well I sat and waited for the day you'd come back home

Well it was all good
Well it was all good
Well it was all good
Well it was all

You are my hope, my god, my love, my fear, my gun
It's over, it's all good
Till the world came crumbling down
Oh well it's all over
It's all good, until the world came crumbling down
Oh well it's all over
It's all good, until the world came crumbling down
World came crumbling, crumbling, crumbling, crumbling

Well it was all good
Well it was all good
Well it was all good

Well it was all
