Do you want me to strip for you?

Everybody played a game, how come you won't tell me the rules?

I'm tired of tryin' on a new skin, I never listen I'm a fool
And everybody ran away, how come you won't tell me where?

I guess I treated them too wrong
Now the sun don't shine on me an' now the rain won't even fall

Should've stripped her down and made the world a mess for her
Never thought she could be this way Should've stripped her down and ripped the world from under her
Never thought she could be this way

Should've stripped her down
Should've stripped her down

Now that the love has gone too blind to see my way to live
I waste away from all the pain for you I'd kill myself again
I hope you get to play your games I hope you get to see your friends
I hope the guilt mixes the pain I hope you never love
again
Strip strip strip strip strip

Should've stripped her down and fucked the world all up for her
Never thought she could be this way
Should've stripped her down and made the world a
mess for her
Never thought she could be this way

Should've stripped her down
Should've stripped her down

Should've stripped her down

Should've stripped her down

Strip

Should've stripped her down

Should've stripped her down

Should've stripped her down

Should've stripped her down

Should've should've should've should've stripped her down
